NEWS RELEASE

For Immediate Release:

August 6, 2007

Nicholas Earth Printing wins another Gold Ink Award, the second in as many years. This year's winners were chosen out of 1,500 entries from print companies across North America.

Publishing Executive and Printing Impressions magazines, co-sponsors of the Annual Gold Ink Award, announced that Houston based Nicholas Earth Printing was chosen for the prestigious "Pewter Award" on the bases of print quality, difficulty and overall visual effect.

Contest judges are among some of the nation's leading experts in the industry; Charles Hames, Design and Production Manager, New York University Press; Marianne Koszorus, Director of Layout and Design, National Geographic Books; Gina Montemurro, Group Production Director, North American Publishing Company; Erik Wikane, Quality Control Manager, Conde Nast Magazines.

The CEO of Nicholas Earth Printing, Arita Cousins Nicholas, says she gives total credit to her staff of experienced professionals. "I'm very proud of their work ethic, making our reputation for quality stand shoulder to shoulder with the best in the industry."

Nicholas Earth Printing maintains offices in New York, Atlanta, Los Angeles and Kansas City.
